Our friends are on their way to a camping holiday. Therefore, Uncle Godfrey has turned an old lorry into a cosy motorhome. They are driving through the beautiful countryside. There are green meadows, hills and thousands of sheep. The weather is very nice. They are all in a very good mood.

Morty: Uncle Godfrey, we must turn left over there. Look, there's the sign to the Swan Lake Campsite.

Godfrey turns left and drives down the road. Then he turns right onto the campsite and parks the motorhome. Afterwards, he goes into the reception.

Godfrey: Hello, my name is Godfrey. We have a reservation.

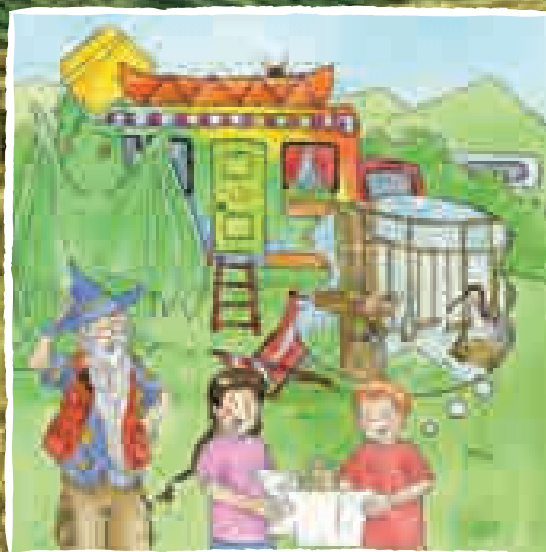

Woman: Good afternoon, sir. Welcome to Swan Lake Campsite. Your pitch is number 57. Behind the car park just turn left and then go 50 metres straight ahead. Here is a map of the campsite. Have a nice holiday.

The friends have arrived at their pitch. The motorhome is painted in bright colours. It has a green door and windows with curtains. And there's also a canoe on the roof.

Godfrey: I promise this will be an exciting adventure holiday!

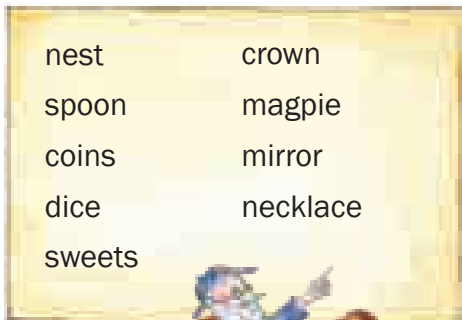

Morty and Rachel are studying the map of the campsite. They are excited.

Morty: There's even a high rope course here and a climbing wall. Cool!

At Swan Lake Campsite, the campers can bring their pets to the pet hotel, so people and their animals can have a relaxed holiday. Children are welcome to help clean the hutches and feed the animals. Morty and Rachel go to the pet hotel.

Morty: Hello sir, we love pets and we would like to help you.

Man: That's very kind of you. I need help feeding the animals. Please come in. I'll give you a tour of the pet hotel.

First, they go to see the budgies and parrots. They have a big aviary with a small tree inside, so the birds can fly around or rest on the branches.

Morty: Can parrots really learn to speak?

Man: Yes, they can. They can learn many words. I once had a parrot here that knew about one hundred words. But budgies can also learn to speak.

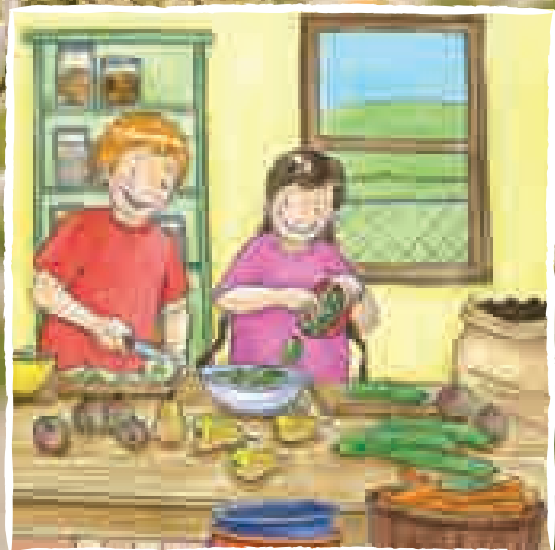

Rachel: What do the birds eat?

Man: They like seeds and apples and the parrots also like nuts. Let's prepare some fruit for them.

The children and the man go into the kitchen. There are fresh apples, cucumbers, pears and carrots, seeds and nuts. Morty and Rachel get some knives and cut the fruit and vegetables into small pieces.

Then they put them in different little bowls.

Man: Well done, children. Let's take the bowls with the nuts, seeds and apples and put them in the aviary. Then we will come back and get the other bowls. They are for our rodents.
